Senate Institute Plans for Nominations, Elections of Next MSC Student Leaders

The nominating convention for student body officers for the 1968-69 school year will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday, it was announced this week by student body President Tom Frank.

The convention will be held in Room 213 of Colden Hall.

According to MSC Student Senate constitution rules, students may receive a nomination and be placed on the ballot for the student election in two ways:

1. Be nominated at the convention, or
2. Submit a petition with 50 student signatures to the Dean of Students' office by 4:30 p. m. Thursday.

President Frank also explained that class meetings will also be held in Colden Hall at the same time as the convention. Students should meet in the rooms designated for their present classification with the freshmen meeting in 214, the sophomore class in 216, and the juniors in 217.

Frank stated that in the past a very small percentage of the students attended the class meetings to help choose their officers.

The elections will be conducted under the plan adopted last year in the new constitution which provides for a larger and more representative Student Senate.

The Senate consists of two class representatives, one of which shall be the class president, from each of the four undergraduate classes. The Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council are represented by three members each. The men's and women's residence halls are each entitled to three representatives, who may not be affiliated with any social fraternity or sorority. The Associated Women's Students has a representative.

Tom Frank, student body president, will preside at the nomination for student officers. Class presidents, Bill Musgrave, freshman; Jim Neal, sophomore, and Tom Peake, junior, will conduct the respective class caucuses.

Nine chapters of Delta Zeta from Province 11 in Missouri will meet at MSC Saturday for their state convention.

National historian since 1922, she has twice been editor of the Lamp, the national sorority publication. She was elected director of extension of the national council in 1962 and received the Order of the Laurel in 1966. Mrs. Lundi wrote the first Delta Zeta chapter manual and helped with the revision of the initiation ritual.

A general workshop will be conducted by Liz Frances, national area director from Birmingham, Ala.

Senate Approves SDA

SDA, Students for Democratic Action, a much discussed and controversial student organization, received final approval from the MSC Student Senate Mar. 21 in its regular meeting.

Originally formed as SDS, Students for a Democratic Society, SDA became a campus-wide topic of discussion before its final acceptance by the Senate.

John Henderson, spokesman for the group throughout its evaluation, explained the organization would have no affiliation with SDS but would still be on the national organization's mailing list and would possibly discuss issues that SDS is involved in.

Senator Mike Wilson announced that he would submit his suggestions for a teacher evaluation program at the next meeting.

John Ford, representing the Northwest Missourian, suggested to the Senate the participation of MSC in a nationwide presidential primary that is being held on many college campuses Apr. 24. Vice president Steve Conner will approach organizations with the idea.

President Tom Frank explained that campus organizations are not responding well to letters that have been sent out in regard to organization constitutions. The files are in the process of being updated, but in many cases, new and revised constitutions have not been submitted.

Creativity Highlighted in Show Of Faculty Dames' Bridal Gowns

A sampling of woman's ingenuity, coupled with a review of history was revealed when the Faculty Dames recently held a wedding gown show in the Union Ballroom.

The parade of dresses began with the oldest dress first. Made in England in 1880, the dress, which belonged to the model's great-grandmother, was worn by Mrs. Edward Farquhar. The outfit was complete with a pair of matching shoes, size 3 (a bit small for the model) who carried the well-preserved footwear.

Mrs. Catherine Davis modeled the dress she wore in 1929 when she married Earl "Lefty" Davis, a former MSC coach. They planned a secret wedding to take place after a ball game, but the college Stroller leaked the news.

A 3-piece, popcorn stitch suit served as Mrs. Lillian Handke's 1936 wedding costume. It was knitted by her grandmother and fashioned from a very common material, grocery string. The emcee noted that such a dress was really a way to "tie up" your man.

Being in love and on cloud nine are often considered synonymous. The 1946 wedding gown of Mrs. Mack Jackson, business education instructor, came from the clouds. It was made from the silk of a parachute, brought home from the Philippines after World War II by the future groom. Eighty strips of material were separated before the dress and an outfit for the flower girl could be made. Mrs. Jackson's veil headdress was fashioned from parachute cords.

The custom of the woman's bringing a dowry to her husband is presented in a new way at an old fashioned German wedding.

Following the 1952 German ceremony of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weaver, a dance was held, with the newlyweds dancing together first, and then the bride and her father led a dance. After Mrs. Weaver's father had finished his dance, he pinned a bill (money) to her dress. During the evening, for the privilege of dancing with the bride, all other men also pinned money to her gown. From her dancing endurance test, the new Mrs. Weaver grossed $250 for her dowry.

Students participating in the seminar were Noel Swaney, Diane Moody, Martin Peterson, Russ McCampbell, Mary Drew, Elbert Black, Mike Lee, Gary Cameron, Ron Walter, and Dave Hockensmith.

The discussion of the various topics was based on two outlooks, liberalism and conservatism. Introductory talks on these attitudes were given by Mr. Marlin Henderson and Dr. Berndt G. Angman.

Approximately 160 area high school students and 40 teachers attended.

They are planning a variety show as a first step toward earning money for the project.

The merits of a physical education requirement for graduation are being discussed at University of Missouri, Kansas City. Faculty and students meeting together are considering these questions: Could physical education requirements be limited to two semesters to allow more time for studying academic subjects? Could physical education be given on a pass or fail basis and thus not figure in the averaging of grades? By the time one reaches college age, should he not be able to determine whether or not he wants to take physical education courses?

Do faculty members approve of the use of tape recordings by students in classrooms? The Leader, student publication of Fort Hays Kansas State College, Hays, Kan., took a poll, and these figures resulted: 50 faculty members approved of tape recordings, 20 disapproved, and 10 were neutral.

Wilson Pickett, the Strawberry Alarm Clock, Carol Dove, the Soulsters, and Dean and the Vandykes will appear Mar. 22-24 at Stephens College "Walk-In Weekend."

The weekend will begin Friday afternoon when students may bring dates to their classes. The singing groups will perform throughout Saturday.

A bill of rights has been approved by both the student congress and the faculty at Middle Tennessee University, Murfreesboro. The document contains stipulations concerning things that vary from cafeteria food to rules and academic freedom.

Staff Institutes Dialogue Proposal

Results of Dialogue discussion are becoming evident. Last fall Mr. James Johnson met with Dialogue, a group of representatives of student organizations, to discuss possible improvements for the library.

Two particular points brought up at the meeting are now or soon will be in effect: The library hours have been extended on Sunday nights and next semester students will be able to check out, for a semester, general textbooks that will help in advanced courses.

The advantage of this will be the student will always have access to a book that he would not have or would have to borrow to supplement his textbook material.

Wise Stroller say: He who see rabbits on campus know Easter break not far away!

Would you believe handsome white rabbit twins here among us? Would you believe Bonnie and Clyde for names?

It is all true. David Neustadt, who is student teaching on the fifth and sixth grade level at Horace Mann school, brought the rabbits for his students to observe. Class members happily take Bonnie and Clyde outdoors for exercise and a few choice nibbles of the greenery. That's when collegians get a peek at them.

Dr. Julius Schulz, associate professor of education, referred to a TV documentary, "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," and sang one of its major songs, "The Watch on the Rhine," in a basic theory class.

The professor sought to demonstrate the negative cultural effect of an anti-intellectual musical approach. The class was impressed with his singing in German, in spite of Dr. Schulz' volunteered opinion that "as a singer I am an excellent comedian."

Jim Estes describes a tough test in prehistoric art history: "The test was so bad we even had a black cat roaming the halls for atmosphere."

If Linda Schneider is walking a little straighter and if her smile is a little wider, she has just cause. She is radiating pride in her award-winning family.

Her father and two brothers, who operate a family partnership farm near Cosby, are to receive the Balanced Farming Management citation from the extension division of the University of Missouri, Columbia.

When Mrs. Mary Temple, English instructor, asked for two writing techniques in a recent test, she expected students to answer "comparison" and "contrast." One enterprising student, who appeared to be on the right track but somehow took a detour, answered "compassion" and "contracts."

Susan Planalp, with a huge multi-colored butterfly painted on her face, was all set to turn herself in Friday afternoon as an original project in Mr. Robert Sunkel's advanced design class. She reversed her decision when she discovered this would entail sitting on the shelf until Monday to be graded.

A conscientious instructor will go to almost any extreme to get his point across. Mr. Paul Jones used the shock treatment in an English class while discussing the building of sentences: "If you ain't got a subject and you ain't got a verb, you ain't got a sentence," he declared.

Maurice Abarr is pleased with the number of McCarthy buttons turning up on campus. He believes that McCarthy's peace stand is appealing to students.

"The big rub," he laments, "is that most of us can't vote yet."

Faculty Men Attend NDEA Media Institute

Dr. Leon F. Miller, dean of instruction, and Mr. Luke L. Boone, director of IMB attended the NDEA institute on Advanced Study in Educational Media Mar. 21-25 at the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel, Houston.

The institute featured 35 audio-visual specialists and 35 chief academic officers of the media. It was a follow-up study for Mr. Boone, who had attended a similar institute in August at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Mr. Boone remained in Houston for the National Convention of Audio-Visual Instructions Mar. 25-29 in Astro Hall and will return to Maryville Sunday.

MSC Students Attend Institute

Twenty-eight MSC social science students attended an "Institute on Contemporary Eastern Europe," Mar. 25 at Park College, Parkville.

The first session, presided over by Howard D. Neighbor, included a lecture on "The Reunification of Germany and the Eastern Policy of the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany" by Hans M. Mahnke, director of the International Law Section, Federal Institute for the Study of Marxism - Leninism, Cologne. Leaders here have expressed a desire to have Mr. Mahnke lecture on campus soon.

Other members of the Park College faculty who participated were Jerzy Hauptmann and James M. Nickell.

Herman Gross, Munich; Johann Hawlowitsch, Munich; Gotthold Rhode, Mainz; Claus Dieter Rohleder, Munich, and George Strobel, Cologne, were other guest speakers.

Union Program Council Plans MSC Free Day

Members of the Union Program Council Committee No. 2 work on plans for Walk-out Day. Sitting are Claudia Hill, Vicki Dixon, Mary Jo Jansen, co-chairman; Hila Rankin, co-chairman; and Dennis Watsabaugh. Standing are Arlene Horner, Joyce Wake, Linda Quinn, Martha Wait, Jeff Andrews, and Helen Martin. Members of the committee not present when the picture was taken are Sharon Baier, Gayle Bradfield, Rod Cruz, John Danielson, Ellen Hamilton, Cheri Jordan, Marvin Lovell, Ron Pawlowski, Doug Steelman, and Terry Stitt.

Walk Out Day, the Branywine Singers, and the freshman orientation dance are among the major events which the special affairs committee, Union Program Council Committee No. 2, supervises.

At present, major planning centers around the organization of Walk Out Day's morning events and the afternoon concert. The activities which have been scheduled for the morning are: for the men, canoe jousting (teams of two), the greased pig contest, and a log-rolling contest. For the women, there will be canoe races (teams of two), a tug-of-war (teams of 16), and a greased pig contest with a smaller pig.

A mystery event has been planned for couples. At noon all students will have an opportunity to enjoy a barbecue and the music of area bands in the Battle of the Bands.

The Brothers Four will give a second-appearance concert at 2 p. m. in Lamkin Gymnasium. Because their music was well accepted by the students on Walk Out Day two years ago, they were rebooked for part of this year's entertainment.

Members of the No. 2 Committee have been divided into sub-committees for a more efficient organization for Walk Out Day. The sub-committees will make arrangements for each of the specific events, the publicity, and trophies. Trophies will be given for first prize in each event, and ribbons will be given for second and third placements.

"We want Walk Out Day to be a fun-filled day," stated Mary Jansen, co-chairman. "Much planning has gone into it. Members of Committee No. 2 are hoping that all of the faculty, the administration, and especially the students will enjoy this free day."

Now the question among the students is "When is it?"

Delta Sigma Phi's Colony To Gain National Affiliation

Northwest Missouri State's chapter of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity will become a national chapter of the fraternity this spring.

Two officers from the National Chapter headquarters in Denver, Colo., will be present for the ceremonies. Approximately 50 representatives from chapters of the surrounding area are also expected to attend.

The Delta Sigs will hold their coronation ball in the Blue Room May 11. Actual installation into the national fraternity will be May 12.

Maryville's chapter has been affiliated with the national fraternity since the spring of 1965. To become national, the fraternity must go through a probation period, have 50 to 60 active members for a year, and be approved by the Board of Governors.

Rod Beam is the Delta Sigma Phi chapter president.

Sig Tau Peltics Win Intramurals

In the finale of intramural basketball the Peltics of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity defeated the Hot Doggers of the Independent League Mar. 19, by a score of 63-46 at Lamkin Gymnasium.

The Peltics, who enjoyed a comfortable lead throughout the game, were led by Bob Tonnies and Barry Monaghan, who scored 15 and 11 points respectively.

The Peltics reached the finals by defeating a tough TKE team, the Vandals, who were previously undefeated until the Taus downed them by a score of 63-48. The Hot Doggers defeated the Good Guys by a score of 59-52 to reach the finals.

Three debate teams represented MSC in the Kirksville debate tournament held last Friday and Saturday.

The teams were Shirley Golden and Dwight Thomas, Jim Oliver and Ron Smith, and Vic Jenkins and John Bassett. These teams performed for the first time in debate competition. Each pair won at least two rounds of the seven-round stands.

Vic Jenkins and John Bassett finished fourth in the meet.

Senate Holds Session For Officer Training

The Student Senate presented an Officers' Training Program for all campus organization leaders Thursday.

The brief program was aimed at developing better leadership and understanding among campus leaders. According to Tom Frank, student body president, discussion groups were held for the vice president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman of organizations.

Mathematics Society To Elect New Leaders

Theta Sigma Pi, mathematics society, will hold an election meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday on the third floor of the Administration Building.

All interested persons are urged to attend. David Hardy is the current president.

CONTEST DEADLINE SET

Mar. 31 is the deadline for entering Reed and Barton's "Silver Opinion" scholarship competition, according to Cherri Thompson, Hudson Hall, student representative.

Entrants are asked to give opinions on their taste in sterling silver patterns. Prizes total over $7,000 in scholarships and awards.

Reporter Visualizes Features in News

John Herleman of the Northwest Missourian staff has assumed the job of setting up a display each week in the showcase opposite the Missourian office to publicize coming events at MSC.

Pictures, pamphlets, and posters stating dates and times of events are a few of the things contained in the first floor display in Colden Hall. The Lettermen Concert and the AWS honoree were recent subjects of this feature.

Students may check this reminder of MSC activities to come.

'Love, Hypocrisy, and Dissent'

Sunday evening's informal "Happening" held in the Student Union set the opening stage for "The New Morality," theme of Religious Emphasis Week.

Few students and more Maryville residents viewed the result of efforts by the REW committee workers or participated in "The Happening." Interest was aroused by the opening convocation Monday morning.

Love, Hypocrisy, and Dissent

Dr. Kenneth Minter, faculty chairman for the 30th Annual Religious Emphasis Week, introduced "The New Morality," as being "Awareness Week."

Speaking before a moderate-sized crowd in the college auditorium, Dr. John Swomley, Saint Paul School of Theology Methodist, Kansas City, depicted a world characterized by hypocrisy. He noted that youth make their sex life an act of revolt against adult hypocrisy, that many in the adult world are irrational and essentially beyond redemption.

"Tell it like it is," the first rule of "The New Morality" quoted by Dr. Swomley, is practiced by hippies and the New Left. He noted that the hippie movement is characterized chiefly by escapism and little constructive policy. Believers in the New Left have discovered that respect for life is held only by North American people and that minority groups are excluded, the speaker said.

"No one is excluded," second "New Morality" rule, denotes that all minority races and creeds of people should be included in society.

"Forget about rules — love, man, love," is a basic plank of "The New Morality."

Dr. Swomley's definition of love expressed his philosophy, "Love means that the universe is so structured that love and cooperation are more basic than anything else." He noted that love is politics — blind and creed-blind.

That conflict is a necessity to love is an idea developed by the REW leader, "No person is genuinely religious today unless he is engaged in some action to change the present structure to end the Vietnam war, end segregation, and bring about related social changes."

Even the church, established as an "unarmed redemptive community of love," has failed partly because of nationalism. Individuals truly wanting social change must begin with themselves.

Proof of this was given by Dr. Swomley when he pointed out: "Thoreau did more against totalitarianism than all the troops put in the field since World War II have done."

REACTION TO ACTION

Wichita State University was the scene of a demonstration sponsored by the local chapter of Students for a Democratic Society in which Mr. Donald B. Ayres, a 4-year veteran, grabbed a Viet Cong flag from a demonstrator and ripped it to shreds.

This article, featured in the Kansas City Star, Mar. 15, was noticed by a professor at MSC who wondered about the activities of SDS, and if it had a place on this campus. He feels that he might be compelled to take the same actions as Mr. Ayres if confronted with the same situation.

Men's Honoree Sees Advance of MSC

Blue Key, an organization which gives recognition to outstanding men on campus has chosen Michael Miller as outstanding man of the month.

Miller, a junior music major, has an impressive list of campus achievements. He has been a member of Phi Sigma Epsilon social fraternity for three years, serving at various times as a member of the Homecoming skit committee, as recording secretary, and as corresponding secretary.

A member of various organizations, Miller is presently active in People to People, The Undergrads, and both the concert and marching bands. He had a leading role in last year's musical, "Carousel."

Miller has served as co-chairman of the Union Board fine arts committee and as chairman of the fine arts committee of UCCF-Wesley. He has also been a member of the Tower Choir's Chamber Group and is index editor of this year's Tower.

This summer he will represent MSC as a campus ambassador to Japan. He also repre-

Michael Miller presented Kappa Delta Pi at a recent convention in Denver, Colo.

Blue Key Honoree Discusses Views Of Campus Life

Michael Miller, who was chosen man of the month by Blue Key, relates some of his ideas about MSC in the following article:

"An urgent need on campus is a greater rapport between students and the faculty-administration.

"Two major attributes of MSC are its friendliness and beauty. Our college is small enough to allow interested students to become involved, yet large enough to make possible varied, and otherwise unattainable, experiences.

"I would like to see greater involvement of the Senate in critical student affairs and more support and interest in the activities of the Senate and Union Board by the student body."

"I think that the Administration should, and is beginning to, realize that students are aware and possess the right and responsibility to make judgments concerning their own environment.

"Definitely, the voicing of ideas and the formulation of new ideas and attitudes should be fostered on campus, and not suppressed, as this is the only way we can truly grow.

"I envision and anticipate our college possibly becoming a university, which I feel would be tremendous, but I definitely believe that the associative size and depersonalization that might follow would be detrimental to the college's function and should be avoided."

RE-READING ASKED

It is easy to read into an editorial comment any interpretation which an individual wishes to believe. In a recent commentary concerning activities at Antioch College, criticism was not directed at the college as an institution but at the activities which a few of its students are attempting to promote. A re-reading of that editorial might be in order.

Juniors Are Invited To Aid in Tutoring

Juniors who are interested in taking part of the Tutorial-Aide Program to help disadvantaged public school students should contact Dr. David Dial.

Participants will get the opportunity to aid slow learners by clarifying, discussing, and drilling on the information presented by classroom teachers.

... CHATTERBOX ...

The many students who attended the Lettermen concert Friday evening seemed to enjoy themselves.

The audience was so pleased with the performance that they gave the popular group two standing ovations.

That fact brings to mind several questions: What does a standing ovation really mean to audiences at MSC? What is the criteria for rewarding entertainers with a standing ovation? Why are MSC student performers never honored in such a manner?

Dr. John M. Swomley, the keynote speaker at the first Religious Emphasis Week convocation, said, among other things, that in Viet Nam and elsewhere, "People are shooting at labels."

Although classes were dismissed at 10 a. m. Monday, there were only approximately 400 people at the convocation.

Perhaps the people who criticize REW are, too, just shooting at the label of religion. Maybe if those protesters attended some of the REW sessions, they would have something concrete to oppose. Or, maybe, they, like others, would receive some new insights, or at least some different ideas on which to base their discussions.

Why do students at MSC study a foreign language?

The answer most likely is that they want to major in languages or that they are taking five or 10 hours to meet a requirement.

Is there some method of teaching a language, besides emphasizing grammar and memory work, that would be of more value to the English or business major? Why wouldn't it be possible for the non-language major to study French or Spanish so that it would be meaningful to him in relation to his specific area of interest?

Congratulations to the Delta Sigs who carried out their commitment to the Red Cross and United States servicemen by completing their relay to Jefferson City.

Whether or not others agree with the commitment, the men should be complimented for doing something and proving that they have an active interest in national issues.

Responsible Discussion

To the Editors:

I wish to reply to the guest editorial of March 22, 1968.

I have, for many years, viewed Antioch College as one of the few institutions in the United States where intellectual dissent is honored. It would seem that those who view intellectual dissent with horror are those who do not belong in a community of learning.

Every college campus has had, at one time or another, nudniks jumping into the college pond, but to use this as an example of anarchy or rebellion requires a point of view which is objectively paralytic.

One of the major requirements of "responsible" reporting is the omission of character assassination, name calling and innuendo. Words such as "kook" and "ultra-liberal" do not belong in "responsible" discussion.

A college is only a sanctuary of learning when nonconformity is allowed to exist and relevant change is possible. Otherwise, rebellion may be necessary. Herb Thompson

Responsible Rebellion

Reading the article last week on college being a sanctuary, not a place of rebellion, disgusted me. If the writer's vision of college is really accurate, I doubt that college is worthwhile.

A college is sheltered and unreal enough without consciously striving to be a "sanctuary." And what can you learn in a sanctuary? Pure facts and accepted ideas. But that is not enough. College is the place for developing new ideas, concepts, attitudes toward life, developing a responsible freedom.

I think college is precisely the place for rebellion, a responsible rebellion against the stupidities and inequalities in life, striving toward a new, more mature meaning. Many college students today are rebelling because their worlds are limited and meaningless, and they must expand. Rebellion is absolutely mandatory for progress.

— Judy Johnson

'Those Others'

Letter to the Editor,

"I'm too valuable to the future of the world to possibly be drafted. Send the dummy who didn't go to college," quote some of the college deferred.

So you and your chosen friends were meant to save the world? Seems odd that these highly educated people who have been draft exempt should need to select "those others" to die for them.

Of course, this is only on the basis that "those others" have nothing to offer humanity anyway. Perhaps their elimination would even better the world situation?

At any rate, it is important that someone else fight and die to protect democratic ideals so that our "self chosen" can teach democracy to the mass of children — the same mass who shall fight and die to protect democracy so that the next "chosen" can become educated, etc., etc.

— Denny Mather

MSC Wrestler Al Borkowski Places Sixth in NCAA Tourney

Senior MSC grappler Allen Borkowski earned sixth place in the NCAA University Division tournament at Penn State last weekend.

The heavyweight wrestler had previously captured two MIAA championships, the 191 lbs. title as a junior, the heavyweight crown as a senior, and had taken third place in the NCAA College Division.

After drawing a first round bye in University competition, Borkowski, in the second round, pinned the U. S. Naval Academy's Mark Kane in 6:07. In the quarterfinal round, Jess Lewis, top ranked matman who had pinned all of his opponents this season, defeated Borkowski, 13-0.

In the first wrestle-back, the Bearcat pinned Martin Weikart, University of Delaware, in 1:20. Borkowski was defeated by Fred Andree of MIT, 6-4, in the second wrestle-back decision. In the fifth-place match the grappler lost a narrow decision to Rich Schumacher of East Stroudsburg State by a score of 4-3.

In discussing the MSC wrestler's record, Coach Gary Collins, who placed second in the NAIA national tournament as a junior in college, stated, "Borkowski performed exceptionally well and just narrowly missed a third or fourth place finish."

Borkowski, in placing sixth, gained status above many top ranked wrestlers including Kent Osboe, University of Northern Iowa, the NCAA College Division champ. He racked up a 24-6 record for his senior year with all six losses being to nationally ranking wrestlers. Fourteen of the matman's matches were won by pins.

In his college career, Borkowski has compiled a record of 60-18-1, second among all-time MSC winners. Ron "Jesse" James is top ranked with 74 victories.

KU Tennis Team Overruns Bearcats

The MSC netmen discovered Saturday afternoon that Kansas University's number two ranking in the Big-8 is well deserved as the Bearcats dropped their initial match of the '68 season 9-0.

The Jayhawks could do no wrong as they dominated the indoor competition in Lamkin Gymnasium. Even the mainstays of the Maryville squad, Bob and Dick Schilling, fell to the talented Lawrence team.

The netters will attempt to regain their winning ways Wednesday as they meet an always tough Graceland College, and next Friday, when they will take on Midwestern. Graceland accounted for two of the Bearcats' three losses last year.

'68 Baseball Season to Begin With Peru Here for Twinbill

Peru State College will travel to Northwest Missouri State College tomorrow, as MSC's baseball season gets underway with a twinbill.

According to Coach Burton Richey, Peru has had good records in hitting the past few years. The MSC team defeated Peru in three games out of four last season.

Denny Kurtz and Bob Weyrauch, second baseman and shortstop respectively, have been working toward making up the Bearcats' keystone combo.

Following the two seven-inning games with Peru, beginning at 1 p. m. tomorrow, the Bearcats will prepare to travel to Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, for a doubleheader Monday. Nebraska Wesleyan was not on MSC's schedule last season.

Dr. Richey gives the following tentative list of players most likely to see action tomorrow: Lou Mooney, 1b; Denny Kurtz, 2b; Bob Weyrauch, ss, and Joe Spinello, 3b. Outfielders will include Dave Ross, 1f; Bob Nelson, cf, and Benny Cain, rf.

The battery will be composed of pitchers Scotty Kurtz and Don Orlovski and catchers Leon Muff and Fred Wise. Other pitchers likely to get into action will be Don Sears, Bobby Shantz and Dave Smith.

Other players who may see action in the four games are Dave Price, infielder; Ron Pawlowski, Gary Maulfair, and Richard Swaney, outfielders, and Angel Melendez and Tim Milner, pitchers.

Mooney, Nelson, Cain, Orlovski, and Wise are the only seniors on this year's Bearcat baseball squad.

Coach Richey has pointed out that there is no admission charge for the home games, and he also has stressed that anyone who wants to attend the games is welcome.

MSC to Hold Football Clinic

The Division of Physical Education will host its second annual football coaches' clinic today and Saturday under the direction of Coach Ivan Schotzel.

The two-day clinic, to be conducted in Lamkin Gymnasium on the NWMSC campus, will include four guest lecturers Vic Bonuchi, head football coach at Excelsior Springs High School; Dick Flanagan, head coach at Savannah High School; Dean Owen, head coach at Liberty High School, and Roler Donahoo, defensive backfield coach at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.

Included on the two-day agenda are seminars concerning offensive football and the T-formation; practice organization and drills; the Wing-T and its variations; 50-defense; defensive umbrella; defensive secondary play; the 43-defense; defensive drills, and the offensive passing drills.

Each of the coaches will conduct various areas of the two-day clinic. Films from Holy Cross College and Liberty, Savannah and Excelsior Springs High School games will be used for demonstration purposes.

Bearcats Choose All-Star Squad From Opponents

A five-man all-star aggregation that could play college basketball in almost anybody's league has been selected by Northwest Missouri State College's basketball Bearcats to their 1967-68 all-opponent team.

Named to the first unit are guard Sylvester Mitchell, Central Missouri State; a trio of forwards, Ron Berkholtz, Washburn University; Lou Shepherd, Southwest Missouri State, and Paul Ozug, Northeast Missouri State, and center Curt Perry, Southwest Missouri State.

Perry averaged 16 points and Shepherd 18 points for MIAA champion Southwest Missouri State. Both were aggressive rebounders. Perry is a 6-8 sophomore and Shepherd a 6-7 senior.

Ozug, a smooth but durable 6-5 transfer from Houston University, paced the MIAA in scoring with a 20.8 average while sparking his Northeast Missouri State team to a vastly improved season.

Bearcats Compete In K-State Relays

In the Kansas State relays Mar. 23, Northwest Missouri State College runners fared well.

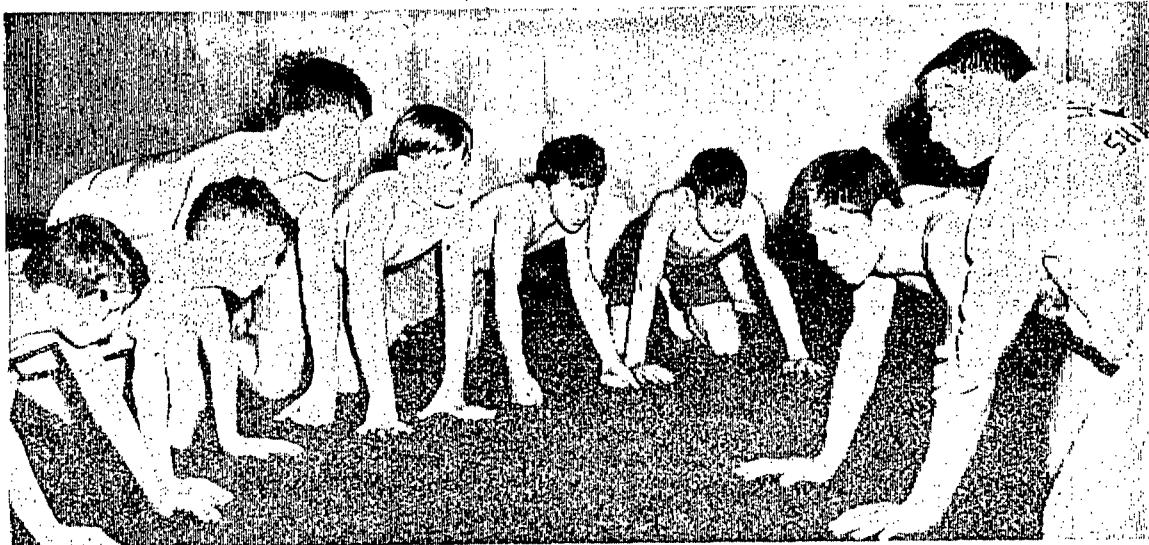

The indoor meet, composed of teams from approximately 30 colleges and universities, was not competitive between teams from different colleges. It was a meet for the runners to display their abilities against competition of both quality and quantity.

Normal Howlett placed highest among MSC runners. The senior from Kansas City ran the 300-yd. dash in an excellent time of 31.4 to place second. Dan Reed also turned in a strong time to place fifth in the 1000-yd. run.

The two-mile relay team of Charles Gilkison, Roger Stucki, David Parker, and Richard Kavanaugh gave the Bearcats their other high mark with a fourth place finish. Parker and Kavanaugh both ran their half miles in under two minutes, which is considered fast for an early season time.

Bad handoffs cost the 'Cats places in both the sprint and distance medleys.

College Men Develop Boys' Wrestling Ability

Young potential athletes for high school and college competition receive instruction in wrestling fundamentals and grapple with those of their own age and weight each Saturday morning in Lamkin Gymnasium.

Randy Hansen and Jerry Peirce of the PE 125 class under the supervision of Dr. Earl Baker are in charge of the wrestling program. Other members of the class are Harold Gooding, Gerald Duty, Larry Newman, Jim McCarthy, Rich Marburg, Fran Schwenk, and Normal Howlett.

Seventy boys in grades five through eight are participating in the activity. Weight classes begin at 55 pounds and go to 158 pounds. The boys have been divided into teams, with two college men assigned to coach each team.

Wrestling is the third of three events — football, basketball, and wrestling — involved in the Maryville Kid Athletic Program.
